

There are approximately 319 million people in the USA – at 3.7 per 100 thousand that means about 12,000 gun murders in the USA every year – and that doesn't include shootings that didn't result in death. The next closest country is Italy with .68 per 100 thousand and last is Iceland with Zero.

DO we need to do something?